THE CITY

<http://nikatver.ru/Government of Saint Petersburg>

Dreaming about visiting a paradise-like place on Earth? Come to Saint Petersburg – the so-called museum in the open air. There is no need in visiting any places at all: you can just admire its lavish baroque or reserved classicism architecture and picturesque ribbons of canals by taking leisurely strolls or boat trips. Most daring tourists are welcome to discover city's diversity by taking helicopter or segway rides. Have never been here before? Professional guides will make your trip as comfortable and enlightening as possible. Have been here for numerous times before? Try to go around the city using our new official mobile application Visit Petersburg.

Saint Petersburg is a caring city which thinks of all types of tourists. It is a real kingdom of heaven for kids. Let them enjoy interactive science museums, puppet theatres and contact zoos here. Young people will be amazed by the number of music events and social venues where they can make new friends. Gourmands are free to reveal tastes of Russian and all international cuisines. Several business areas and complexes are at the disposal of businessmen to participate in plenty of congresses and conferences. Bohemia has a great opportunity to fulfill its potential via taking part in various creative workshops, festivals and experimental projects. Travel and enjoy in winter or summer, rain or shine, young or old!

The Dostoevsky Museum

The Literary-Memorial Museum of Dostoevsky was opened on the 150th anniversary of his birthday in 1971. This house was his last apartment. The Brothers Karamazov novel was written in this house. The Dostoevsky's apartment was recreated for the most part from the memoirs of his wife Anna and of his contemporaries.

The Dostoevsky Museum contains a theater for viewing performances and movies based on Dostoevsky's works, and for literary gatherings. Every year in November, when the writer's birthday is observed, the museum hosts an international scholarly conference "Dostoevsky and World Culture", and a journal of the same name is published with the conference proceedings. Exhibits by modern artists are always on display in the exhibition rooms. The museum has become an inseparable part of cultural life in St.Petersburg today.

Yelagin Island

Yelagin Island is a unique protected natural complex. It is the northernmost island in the Neva delta, laved with Big Nevka in the north, with Central Nevka in the south and south-east, and shooting out with the narrow cape into the Gulf of Finland. At one time a royal residence, Yelagin Island since the middle of last century passed into the possession of the state and became the Central Park of Culture and Recreation, and from this moment it opened its doors to all comers.

Today Kirov Central Park is a dynamically developing cultural and recreational space, suitable for audiences of different age groups and interests.

There is a small zoo for young visitors. In summertime you can rent a bike, roller skates, boat, waterbike. In wintertime you can rent the skates and go skating in the open skating rink. In the alleys of the park, you will meet squirrels that will take nuts from your hands.

The Bronze Horseman

The Bronze Horseman is an equestrian statue of Peter the Great Commissioned by Catherine the Great, it was created by the French sculptor Étienne Maurice Falconet. The name comes from an 1833 poem of the same the name by Aleksander Pushkin, which is widely considered one of the most significant works of Russian literature. The statue is now one of the symbols of Saint Petersburg.

The statue's pedestal is the enormous Thunder Stone, the largest stone ever moved by man. The stone originally weighed about 1500 tonnes, and was carved down to 1250 during transportation to its current site.

Pavlovsk Park

Pavlovsk is the palace-and-park ensemble and summer residence of Grand Prince Pavel (who became later the Emperor Pavel I).

Pavlovsk Park was conceived by Cameron as a classic English landscape garden, an idealized landscape filled with picturesque pieces of classical architecture, designed to surprise and please the viewer. Pavlovsk Palace has state rooms designed by some of St. Petersburg's most famous architects, including Quarenghi, Rossi and Voronikhin, the first Russian-born architect to make a significant contribution to one of the Imperial palaces.

Peter the Great Aquatoria

Have you ever seen what was the Nevsky Prospect look like in 18 century? Or how ships set afloat from the staples of the Admiralty? What aristocracy dance parties were at the Upper Park of Peterhof? Or how St. Petersburg used to celebrate the Maslenitsa festival at that time?

Be sure to come with children, family and friends.

Are you a tourist and you don't have enough time to see all major tourist attractions in St. Petersburg (e.g. historic city center, Kronstadt, Oranienbaum, Peterhof)? In such circumstances “Peter the Great Aquatory ” provides you with a unique chance to see them all in one place! We, unlike many other museums, work till 22:00 (10 p.m.) and are located in the heart of the city.

The Saint Petersburg Chamber Opera

The St. Petersburg Chamber Opera was created by director Yuri Alexandrov in 1987. It was intended to be a creative laboratory and soon took a prominent place in St.Petersburg musical and drama sphere, winning the reputation of “the living opera” or “the searching theatre.”

Nowadays artistic director Yuri Alexandrov constantly follows the modern operatic drama, considering it necessary for the theatre's full artistic development. Over the years, he has staged the operas “I believe” by Piguzov, “The Fifth Journey of Christopher Columbus” and “Spotted Dog Running at the Edge of the Sea” by Smelkov, “White Rose” by Zimmerman, “Cornet Christoph Rilke's song of love and death” by Mattus. His creative approach to the musical content allows the director to incorporate an opera performance in the modern context. The St. Petersburg Chamber Opera performances are annually nominated to most prestigious Russian awards, Golden Mask and Golden Spotlight.

Rimsky-Korsakov Museum

At present this is the only composer's museum in St.Petersburg. It occupies a wing of the house 28 on Zagorodny Prospekt, where Rimsky-Korsakov had spent the last fifteen years of his life, from 1893 to 1908. It was here that he composed eleven of his fifteen operas, among them Sadko, The Fairy-Tale of Tzar Sultan, The Tzar's Bride, Kashchey, the Immortal, The Golden Rooster.

After the composer's and his wife's death, for fifty years the apartment was shared by several families. Nevertheless, all private belongings, as well as the furniture, have been carefully preserved by the composer's heirs.

The musical life of the museum is as diverse today as it used to be then. Following the tradition, on Wednesdays "Musical Evenings in the Zagorodny House" take place here, involving musicians from the city opera houses and symphony orchestras. There are also season Saturday evening concerts for children, as well as series of concerts given by young musicians "The Musical Youth of St.Petersburg".

Thrice a year - for the opening and closing of the season and on March 18th (the composer's birthday) concerts are conducted in the memorial living-room.

Chaliapin Memorial Apartment

Museum of Feodor Chaliapin was open on April 11, 1975 in his last flat in St Petersburg. Here, at Aptekarsky island, 2-B Permskaya street (now Graftio St.), the great singer lived from 1915 to 1922, when he left this country for good.

Letters and photos, show bills and programmes, personal belongings and houseware, paintings and drawings, theatre costumes and set designs of Chaliapin's performances tell about the main events of life and career of the great singer. The museum also stores collection of weapons, which Maxim Gorky presented to Chaliapin.

Of particular interest are paintings of renowned artists A. Golovin, K. Korovin and A. Yakovlev depicting Chaliapin in ordinary life and on stage. Here one also can see the famous portrait by B. Kustodiev (1921). Chaliapin was fond of that work and took it with him abroad. His daughters Marfa and Marina had given the portrait to the Museum in 1968.

Sheremetev Palace – Museum of Music

The former mansion of Counts Sheremetev is a unique historical and cultural monument, which represents rare for St.Petersburg pattern of an urban mansion.

Up to 1917 the Palace and the land had belonged to the five generations of the senior branch - the Counts - of the old Russian family of Sheremetev.

At present the majority of the Sheremetev halls, given to the museum in dramatic state, have been restored. The exhibition is arranged in three directions: a) The history of the Sheremetev family and life of Russian nobility in XVIII - XX cc. b) Open stores of the unique collection of musical instruments c) The exhibition of private collections.

The permanent exhibition "The Sheremetev family and the Musical Life of the 18-20th cc." was organized in 1995 in collaboration with the State Hermitage, the Russian National Library, Pushkin House, the State Tretyakov Gallery, the Ostankino Memorial Palace, the Russian Porcelain Museum in Kuskovo, as well as owners of private collections.

Another notable exhibition is a private collection of A.M.Sarayeva-Bondar (wife of V.V.Strekalov-Obolensky - a Petersburg collector). The collection numbering over 700 works of fine and applied arts (18-20th centuries) is one of the most precious recent acquisitions of the museum.

The permanent Musical Instruments Collection displayed at the Palace has three thousand exhibits. "The Open Stores" exhibition opened in the October of 1997 in the Gallery Wing of the Fountain House. Here one can hear the Russian bells, replicas of antique musical instruments, copied in the 19th century from authentic pieces, which had been discovered during the excavations of Ancient Etruria.

The fancy shapes of the baroque instruments of the 17-18th centuries - the old harps, viols, harpsichords- go extremely well with the style of the Palace, the delicate design of the iron railings, the stucco moulding of the interiors.

The famous collection, framed by the old baroque architecture, is perceived as a new page in the musical-historical annals of the Fountain House, in which there are the names of famous artists of the past, renowned historians, painters, architects.

The museum has become a popular place for concerts.

The principal exhibition projects initiated and carried out by the museum:

Gatchina Palace and Park

The palace and park at Gatchina dates back to the time of Empress Catherine II. In 1765, the tsaritsa gave her favourite, Count Grigory Orlov, a lavish gift – the Gatchina estate. The picturesque landscape, spring-fed lakes with connecting tributaries and rivers made it possible to create here the unique landscape park with the palace of remarkable architecture as its focal point.

Oranienbaum Palaces and Park

The Grand Menshikov palace, is the oldest construction of Oranienbaum. In its courtyard and its surroundings, one can plainly feel the spirit of that time, the epoch of transformation and battling for the entrance to the Baltic sea. It is situated almost at the water level of the gulf, connected with the sea, directed to it, as if embodying the main goal of all the work of Peter I's time - the affirmation of Russia on the coast of the freed sea.

The Chinese palace, located in the depth of the Upper Park and surrounded by greenery on all of its sides, is part of the "Private Dacha", the grand palace-and-park complex of the Empress Catherine II. The definition "private", in the court terminology, implied that a particular building, pavilion or a garden, were intended solely for the imperial members, and only selected people could have been invited here. This was the case with the Chinese Palace and its surroundings - the personal residence of Catherine II.

Like the fabulous palaces at Oranienbaum, the park around them is in need of a great deal of tender, loving care to restore it to its former glories. While some parts of the varied parkland can still give a fair impression of the carefully planned landscaping carried out in the reign of Catherine the Great, others are so overgrown as to have become just wilderness.

Gustomaestro

Italian cooking with the hallmark of our famous Italian head chef Fabrizio Fattuci is what makes Gusto. But that's not all. Gusto is an Italian restaurant in the heart of St Petersburg, which combines the classic and the cosy, style and simplicity, and of course friendly service - all rare signs of great taste. Here at Gusto, we also take special pride in our vinoteque. This is the biggest wine storage system in St Petersburg, allowing us to serve any wine on our list by the glass. Instead of ordering a full bottle, our guests are able to sample many different sorts of wine in 25ml servings. Another unique feature of Gusto is Apartment Number 2 - a private area for guests, where you can enjoy all the advantages of a top class home-style restaurant. It comprises two rooms - a dining area and a lounge with a television and soft sofas. It is the perfect place to celebrate a birthday, throw a family dinner party, or have a private meal with your business partners. Guests in the apartment are not limited on their food choice, being able to order any dish on the menu or make a personal request.

Severyanin

Severyanin is a typical St. Petersburg restaurant located in the old center of the city, where quiet lanes run from Sennaya Square (19th century's largest market place) over the picturesque Griboyedov canal.

There's a play on words in its name – a Russian word 'severyanin' means 'a man from the North' referring to Northern Russia cuisine traditions, and at the same time to the pen-name of Igor-Severyanin, a remarkable poet of the so called Silver age of Russian culture (the turn of the 20th century, ended with the revolution in 1917).

Severyanin restaurant appeared in Stolyarny Lane in 2011 specializing on substantial Russian meat cuisine.

Severyanin's elegant and warm interior reminds of black-and-white photographs of the 19th century St. Petersburg's apartments. Our guests often note this atmosphere of the "past times". Antique furniture, stylish lighting, white tablecloths, decorative elements such as real lace napkins or an old telephone set, all interior details help this "immersion".

Blok

The Blok restaurant is situated on the roof of the Leningrad Center in the Tavrishesky Garden. Our concept is on the one hand the cuisine of Russian provincial regions and on the other hand – Russian meat of highest quality which surpasses the existing foreign rivals. We cook following both traditional and present-day recipes, and we have a huge variety of meat dishes – more than 60 dishes including veal cheeks and steaks, the half of which you can taste only in Blok.

The founder of Blok is Alexander Rappoport, a restaurateur from Moscow who became a "Restaurateur of the year" in 2014, according to GQ magazine. He already manages such famous restaurants as Dr. Zhivago, China Gramota, Black Thai, Pub Lo Picasso and Cook'Kareku, however he chose St. Petersburg to be the location of his lead restaurant. Alexander Rappoport promises to do his best to make Blok the number one meat restaurant in Russia. Though, some steps are already taken and, what is the most important, meat of highest quality is found: perfect black angus cattle are grown in Voronezh region. They are fed with specially prepared grain mixture with wet corn as a base; due to such feed and to good genetics their meat has a very high degree of marbling - between Choice+ and Prime.

Banshiki

Banshiki restaurant is situated on Degtyarnaya street and shares the building with Degtyarnie Bani (Degtyarnie steamrooms). Its interior and menu create the atmosphere of a cozy countryhouse - and one can hardly find a Russian countryhouse without a steam bath.

The restaurant's concept is based on dear to everyone in St. Petersburg Russian cuisine, reconsidered by the Banshiki's team. Our chef Stanislav Levokho combines home feast traditions with modern technologies, and plate service shows new sides of classical dishes.

The restaurant perfectly suits for a family feast, as well as for a business lunch but you don't need a special occasion to drop by. 1st floor's atmospheric space, 2nd floor's solemn room, spacious kids' room, and intimate cabinet with large "family" table will make anyone feel comfortable here.

"BRUNO" Maison de la Truffe

The new restaurant is a creation of Clément Bruno, who is referred to by food critics not otherwise as "king of truffles". Bruno's House at the Admiralteisky Avenue replicates the warm ambiance of the Chez Bruno restaurant located in the Provence commune of Lorgues in the south-east of France. Despite the fact that the Lorgues' population is only nine thousand residents, the restaurant is visited every year by more than 36 thousand guests from all around the world, including members of European royal houses and Hollywood stars. Annually, four thousand tons of truffles are being prepared at Chez Bruno — this a world record!

The restaurant was established by Clément Bruno in a cozy old house, that had been owned anciently by his grandmother. It was she who had taught Mr. Bruno how to cook simple but delicious courses of truffles. The restaurant itself and Mr. Bruno have been awarded a Michelin star.

Now, you can come to visit the famous Provence dynasty without leaving St. Petersburg. At the BRUNO Maison de la Truffe they cook dishes with seasonal truffles — the summer ones (Tuber Aestivum), the winter ones (Brumale), as well as the black truffles (Melanosporum).

Stray Dog

Legendary artists' café in vaulted cellar. The Stray Dog Café was a meeting place for famous writers and poets during the early 20th century. The Acmeist poets (Nikolay Gumilyov, Mandelstam, Mikhail Kuzmin, etc.) gathered there to discuss theories of literature, give poetry readings, and perform theatre.

Nowadays the cafe continues to serve as a popular venue for the Bohemia, i.e. artists, musicians, poets and writers. Visitors can enjoy daily live music concerts, poetry evenings, performances and temporary exhibitions.

Café Singer

Café Singer is one of those unique places in the city, which has a genuine Petersburg spirit and an old refined style. The atmosphere is relaxed and casual and the panoramic view of the main city prospect and Kazan Cathedral through the huge windows is spectacular. People like to just sit here and enjoy a cup of good coffee or a pot of freshly brewed tea. The service is discreetly efficient, and the music is laidback. The style is elegant and comfortable: distinctive Venetian green decorative plastering, cosy chairs upholstered in green leather, antique wooden cabinets, fine porcelain and old-world spreading palm trees.

Petersburgers love Café Singer at all times of the day and all through the week - business lunch, meeting up after work, pre-theatre, and en famille at the weekends. For visitors, it's a perfect place to take a break between museums and sightseeing.

Du Nord 1834

Du Nord 1834 is both French confectionery and restaurant located in the city center of Saint-Petersburg, on the first floor of

"Oktiabrskaya" hotel. We offer our guest fresh and delicious French bakery and traditional dishes of French cuisine.

The name "Du Nord 1834" was chosen because in the same building in 1834 one of the first French confectioneries of Petersburg "Du Nord" was opened and became rather popular with the city aristocracy!

"Du Nord" can be rightfully considered to be the place, where the best coffee at St.-Petersburg is served! Exclusive coffee-machines were bought: one is a model of manual assembling and another is a super automatic model, one of the only 2 in the city!

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

British Wave/Government of Saint Petersburg

St Petersburg's bars tend to have themes - sports, Irish, British-style pub, hip Soviet nostalgia - they serve food, usually have DJs or live music and 02.00 is considered early closing. The scene is constantly changing, so check weekly listings and posters around town. Most clubs serve food and are open until 06.00 or later.

Metro Club

Democratic and uninhibited party atmosphere, combined with the best dance music, elegant space design and numerous individual bars make METRO CLUB an awesome nightlife mecca.

Three dance floors, located on the club's three floors, guarantee the right dance mood and the freedom to dance to your own style, while the huge number of visitors makes getting to know new people easy and fun! On any day of the week, METRO CLUB guests can expect a comfortable and safe evening out.

METRO CLUB features secure parking, a large cloakroom, an ATM, and a separate VIP-entrance for those holding club cards and interested in gaining admittance to the club without waiting in line.

Barrel

Deep black color in the interior, which was created by one of the best designers of the two capitals Alex Haas, and neon projection of oil tanks on the walls evoke associations with the "black gold", and infinitely long bar reminds you the classic cocktail bars in Europe, where pleasant and rich people spent their time. Barrel - is a combination of low-key luxury, expensive minimalism and democratic style at the same time and in everything: design, cuisine and atmosphere. For those who are a burdened and fettered by prim atmosphere of restaurants, and not accustomed to chat under the pulsating decibels in clubs, Barrel - is the best choice to disconnect from the hustle and bustle of the day, allowing himself to just enjoy life.

Chef Vadim Ivanov offers a wide variety of European and Mediterranean cuisine for this. Barrel's pride is the original wine carte, made with the ideal combination of dishes from the menu and the requirements of the most sophisticated wine gourmet. Special accent Barrel makes on cocktails - an indispensable attribute of all today's bars. A offered snacks from the tapas-menu will be a perfect accompaniment to a glass of wine or a cocktail. Multiple formats organically combine in Barrel. For someone Barrel - is a cozy cocktail bar, where cocktails are prepared exclusively from original recipes of the authors, which are famous in all the capital cities of the world. You will be pleasantly surprised when you discover a totally different, new taste of a long known drink and with joyful anticipation you will expect meeting with the new cocktails. As for ingredients here we use a wide selection of fresh herbs, fruits, vegetables, honey and even exotic spices.

Coyote Ugly

The Coyote Ugly Saloon differs considerably from most of its kind. The specific character of the Coyote Ugly is felt in every detail! In the first place, it's a pure American pub! Here you can forget about bombast and glamour! It is the right place for sarcastic humour and lust for entertainment!

The interior of the Coyote Ugly in St. Petersburg was completely designed and implemented by ART Studio Design & Construction. The best traditions of American saloons were embodied here - abundance of wood and metal, leather sofas, genuine American decor (car number plates, posters), motorbikes, saloon doors, fierce coyote on the shop roof, bright signboards and, certainly, back counters and stands of impressive sizes packed with spirits!

Red Fox Jazz Club

Do you like jazz? Come.
Don't like? Still come.
«Red Fox» is for those who likes it hot. Excellent live music. Nice people.
What more is necessary for happiness?

20s of the 20 century in America went down in history as «roaring twenties». When the best music was jazz, such dances as «Charleston», «Lindy hawk », «Swing» were famous in America. Drinking alcohol young people danced wildly to the sounds of jazz.

«Jazz is what we are and our best hours».

«Red Fox» was established in 2001. It was named in honor of the trumpeter Henry «Red» Allen. There are two halls (smoking and not smoking) in the caf?. There is live music performed by various groups and artists, both Russian and foreign, every day. Besides music, the cafe can offer you tasty meals (because an excellent Russian-European cuisine was formed over years) and, of course, there is a great variety of drinks. Prices are very democratic, which pleases our guests...

If the soft-rapturous, tart with coffee tint jazz tunes don't leave you indifferent, if the sounds of the saxophone and piano touch the invisible chord in your heart, now you are at the right place. For true fans and those who just realized his spiritual closeness to this style can spend a short tour of the centuries-old history of jazz music, meeting with people who have left their mark on this «field».

Everyone knows Frank Sinatra, Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald, Louis Armstrong and Charlie Parker. You can find interesting stories from biographies of them and about many other jazz artists in the online representation of the jazz caf? «Red Fox».

If you want to know more about ground-bit, spiritual, two-bit or jam you can easily find an information here.

Club «Red Fox» offers a fascinating collection of information on the jazz theme with unique stories about artists and events for all, whose life is floating under the spiritual motives of music.

Santa Barbara Club

Santa Barbara changed the traditional approach to the design of club space: every guest will feel comfortable regardless of the location:

whether it is a dance floor (there are three of them to choose); exclusive terrace where you can enjoy the skyline of the central part of the city; guest sits, the usual idea of which has been changed - regardless of the location, each guest will be in the epicenter of events in the center of attention. Santa Barbara lay emphasis on the long lost "club atmosphere": learning from the American experience, the club has taken care of giving the guests a chance to communicate with one another. Is that not a reason why they came there? The seats in the club are put in a smart way to let groups of friends spend time in maximum comfort. This is the principle according which Santa Barbara will work.

Graffiti Courtyard on Liteyny prospect

In 2007 all the walls of this common courtyard were covered with one large painting. Since then, unknown artists continue to leave their drawings here. Although the first work of street art has not been preserved, this also has its own advantage - the yard changes every time you come here, so it can really be compared with an art gallery.

Sphinxes at the Universitetskaya Embankment

The Saint Petersburg Sphinxes are about 3500 years old. They are made from syenite and initially were in front of a magnificent temple, which was built in Egypt near Thebes (Luxor) for the 18th dynasty pharaoh Amenhotep III. Their faces are portraits of Amenhotep III and the shape of their headwear (crowns "pa shemti") indicate that he was the ruler of two kingdoms—the Upper Egypt and Lower Egypt. The sphinxes weigh about 23 tons each.

Chizhik-Pyzhik

It's one of the smallest statues in Saint Petersburg. It was installed in 1994 on the Fontanka River near the 1st Engineering Bridge, where in 1835, on the initiative of Prince Peter of Oldenburg was founded the Imperial School of Jurisprudence. Students of the school wore uniforms of yellow-green color, which resembled a plumage of chizh (a siskin). So people started calling them by the nickname Chizhik-Pyzhik. According to the belief your desire will come true if you make a wish and throw a coin in statue.

Monument to Nikolay I

The monument is located on St Isaac's Square. The Neo-Baroque monument to the Russian Emperor Nicholas I was designed by architect Auguste de Montferrand in 1856. The pedestal is decorated with allegorical female figures of Wisdom, Force, Faith and Justice, in whose faces one can notice the likeness with the wife and daughters of the Empereros. High reliefs on the pedestal represent the most important events of the time of Nikolay I's ruling: the Decembrist uprising (1825), suppression of cholera revolt on Sennaya Square (1831), Speransky's rewarding concerning the creation of the first code of laws (1832) and Verebyinsky Bridge opening on the railroad from St. Petersburg to Moscow (1851).

Sculptures of cats Elisey and Vasilisa

The cats Elisei and Vasilisa are two small sculptures located in the very center of St. Petersburg, on Malaya Sadovaya Street. They live here since 2000. The cats attract tourists who want to catch luck "by the tail". If you throw a coin and it lands next to the figure, without falling down, you will certainly be lucky.

Monument to Catherine II

The artist M.O. Mikeshin started work on the plans in 1860. The designs were accepted in 1872, at which point the erection of the pedestal, made of 600 Serdobolsk granite blocks, had already begun. Special ships were built to from the stones, which weighed up to 50 tons, from the Valaam Archipelago Island.

Surrounding the pediment are nine sculptural portraits of nobles from Catherine the Great's time (sculptor A.M. Opekushin); these are organised into groups of generals (P.A. Rumyantsev, G.A. Potemkin, A.V. Suvorov), officials (A.A. Bezborodko, I.I. Betskoy), naval commanders (V.Y. Chichagov, A.G. Orlov) and cultural figures (G.R. Derzhavin, E.R. Dashkova).

Alexander Column

The Alexander Column is the focal point of Palace Square in Saint Petersburg, Russia. The monument was erected after the Russian victory in the war with Napoleon's France. The column is named for Emperor Alexander I of Russia, who reigned from 1801 till 1825.

The Alexander Column was designed by the French-born architect Auguste de Montferrand, built between 1830 and 1834 with Swiss-born architect Antonio Adamini, and unveiled on 30 August 1834. The pedestal of the Alexander Column is decorated with symbols of military glory, sculpted by Giovanni Battista Scotti.

The Rostral Columns

The first two rostrum columns, Chesmenskaya and Moreiskaya, were built in the 1770s at Tsarskoe Selo (near Pushkin) in memory of the victories of the Russian fleet. In St. Petersburg there are two rostral columns erected from granite and pudost stone in 1805-10 (architect Jean-Francois Thomas de Thomon) on the spit of Vasilyevsky Island. From the very start they served as beacons for the trading port. Inside the rostral columns are spiral staircases, leading to the squares are chalice shaped lamps on tripods (since 1957 the gas beacons of the columns have been lit for celebrations). At the pedestal of the columns are sculptures (the craftsman S. Sukhanov, the sculptors J. Camberlain and J. Thibaud), they are traditionally considered allegories for the Volga and Dnepr rivers (the northern column), the Neva and Volkhov (the southern column). In 1999-2000, they were restored.

Blue Bridge

This unusual simple-span bridge was constructed in 1818 after a typical project of W.Hastie. In 1842-1844 the Blue Bridge was widened in the course of the arrangement of Isaakiyevskaya square. That is the story how the "invisible bridge" appeared. Thousands of tourists daily find themselves on it and only few of them notice that it is in fact a bridge, owing to the fact the width of the bridge span is equal to the width of the square.

Grand Choral Synagogue

The Grand Choral Synagogue is an architectural monument of federal significance; it is designed in the eastern, Moresque style.

The building project was developed by the architects L. Bachmann and I. Shaposhnikov, also involving V. Stasov and N. Benois. The construction was completed in 1893. The St. Petersburg Synagogue is the second largest in Europe and the largest in Russia. The complex of the Grand Choral Synagogue includes The Great Synagogue, The Small Synagogue, mikvah and The Synagogue of the Georgian Jews.

The unique acoustics of the Great Choral Synagogue is known worldwide. You can conduct an experiment: try standing facing the wall at one end of the hall, then ask your friends to stay at the opposite side and whisper something quietly. Despite the impressive distance (10 meters), you will hear all the words perfectly. What is surprising - the voice is magnified in the center of the hall.

Russian Levsha, museum of microminiature art

In 2006 the first museum of microminiature art in Russia "Russian Levsha" was founded by the International Craft Guild of Masters in Saint Petersburg. Levsha is a hero of a Russian folktale. The story about a peasant named Levsha who was able to shoe a dancing flea nowadays is the part of Russian culture and gifted artisans proudly call themselves "Levsha's". Museum of the Guild in Saint Petersburg shows the finest examples of modern miniature craftsmanship. All exhibits of the unique collection are smaller than 1 mm.

Microminiature is a rare and fascinating art. It's hardly possible to number more than ten artists who have devoted themselves to this captivating work that requires genuine skill, accuracy and great patience. The author Vladimir Aniskin (Novosibirsk) uses different trades of art and craft, such as blacksmithing, foundry, manufacturing glass, handling birch bark, jeweler's art. It is possible to see the classic of microminiature: the shoed flea, the camels in an eye of a needle, the text of 2 typing pages on a poppy seed, the rose, painted on a cut of horsehair etc.

Visitors can look at the details of the exhibits through the glass of magnifier or microscope. Today the exposition of miniatures is supplemented by new amazing works of modern "Levsha's" - Russian smiths. Russian Levsha is the museum that shows the roots of Russian art and tells a story about artisans, capable to amaze the world.

Museum of Soviet Life Style

A unique place where every visitor can take a trip into the forgotten Soviet past. The museum's main goal is to evoke a feeling of pleasant nostalgia and positive emotions among its visitors as they look through items of a bygone era. Exhibits are not chosen based on any particular special value (although some are quite valuable and even rare); the most important thing here is the history and emotions that each item brings to visitors who may or may not have experienced the heyday of the not-so-distant-past era.

The Museum of St. Petersburg Art (20th-21st centuries)

The Museum of St. Petersburg Art (20th-21st centuries) is a depository of a unique collection representing productions of the artists of Russia's Cultural Capital. The museum was established formally in January 2016 as a branch of the Manège Central Exhibition Hall, but de facto its origin is simultaneous with that of its collection.

It began to be formed in 1990, at the decision of the Session of the Main Department for Culture of the Executive Committee of Leningrad Council of Deputies, with the prospect to become, later on, the core of the Museum of Modern Art to be created in the city. In view of this, the Department of Modern Art was organized at the Manège; its responsibilities included acquiring, cataloguing and exhibiting works of art. At present, the collection has ca. 3,000 items, covering the entire Petrograd-Leningrad-St. Petersburg period in the history of arts. It includes works of different styles and trends, created in the city in the course of two centuries, viz. the Avant-Garde of the 1920s, post-WW-II Socialist Realism, the 'left wing' of the Artists' Union and the Underground of the 1960s-70s, and up to the post-Perestroika period and nowadays.

Untruth Museum

There is an official science, an official view of the history and events that have happened with humanity since its inception. But there are also different views that absolutely contradict the usual ones... A lot of hypotheses and evidences that represents an alternative view of historical events, phenomena and characters have been collected. The mission of the "Untruth museum" is to tell about those alternative views through the exhibits and also to answer on many other questions:

Are the movements in time possible?

Who are the Annunaki and what connects them with Antarctica and the disappearance of squadron nr. 19 in the Bermuda Triangle?

Who built the ancient pyramids and why?

Where does the Sasquatch live and how to see it?

Rossi Hotel and Spa ****

It is stylish and opulent in a way that only a true boutique hotel in a lovingly restored historical landmark building can be. The Rossi seamlessly incorporates the best elements of classical Russian architecture and modern design. The Rossi’s façade harkens back to the days of horse drawn carriages rumbling over cobble stone streets, and elegant couples strolling along the embankment of the Fontanka river. But even though our guests are surrounded by history, the modern world is only a stride away.

Step through the front door of the Rossi, and you enter another world, the one full of aristocratic elegance, sophistication and warmth. Inside these historic walls is a world of luxurious comfort with all the latest touches and highest standards of service. The rare combination of meticulously restored historical landmark, attention to detail and an eye for modern design – all these are about the Rossi Boutique hotel.

Dostoevsky ****

The Hotel Dostoevsky**** is situated in the unique historical and architectural area of Saint-Petersburg. It takes five minutes walking through magnificent architectural monuments, from the Hotel to the Nevsky prospect, the very heart and the gala view of Saint-Petersburg.

The Hotel building constructed in 1783 is located in the Vladimirskaia square. The modern-styled building front faces the Cathedral of Our Lady of Vladimir.

The Cathedral founded in 1747 is an architectural dominant and a crown of the square, and the history of it starts from the 17th century. The square has five streets adjoining. Don't miss the chance to get an amazing walking trip around museums, theatres and architect monuments of this area.

Hotel windows facing the Vladimirsky prospect offer a spellbinding view to the Vladimirskaia square and the historical center of the city.

The Hotel offers 218 rooms of various categories. Guests are welcomed to use high-speed Internet access, satellite television, international dialing, minibar, round-the-clock room service and other facilities.

Dostoevsky combines the charm of the old history and the high level of the modern comfort and service. That is why the Hotel is so popular among Russian and foreign tourists, businessmen and artists.
